

Contemporary Painters Shown in Local Exhibit

An art exhibit featuring the works of local, contemporary painters is now on display at the Del Amo office of Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Assn., 3832 Sepulveda Blvd.

Featured in the display will be watercolors by Larry Rink, serigraphs by Sister Mary Corita, I.H.M., and pencil drawings by Mae Babitz.

The exhibit will continue through Dec. 5, according to Charles T. Cederlof, manager of the office, who invites the public in to see the exhibit.

Larry Rink has received many honors for his watercolors, and the latest won second prize at the Barnsdall All-City Art Festival.

Sister Mary Corita, I.H.M., has become as well-known for the quality of her serigraphy as she has for her stimulating lectures on art. She has traveled throughout the world exhibiting her silkscreen prints. Quite often she uses quotations and thoughts from the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, poetry by Jimenez, E. E. Cummings, Rilke, and other sources that please her imagination.

The pencil drawings by Mrs. Babitz attempt to record the history of the vanishing Pueblo de los Angeles, before the bulldozers razed the old buildings.

The exhibit is being coordinated by the Comara Gallery, Los Angeles.

Two BMHS Students at Science Day

Two science students from Bishop Montgomery High School, along with Father Leo, science club moderator, attended the recent Junior Science Symposium at the California Museum of Science and Industry where 225 select science students participated. Five high schools of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles were represented.

Representing the local school were Richard Fowler and Michelle Rosse, who heard such speakers as Dr. Richard Hirsch, director of psychological engineering for IBM, and Dr. Frank Press, director of the seismological laboratory, California Institute of Technology.

The students then toured Norair, a division of North American Aviation, and concluded with a banquet at which Dr. William Pickering, director of Jet Propulsion Laboratory, spoke on "The Next Twenty Years in Space."

Dr. Snyder To Address Unitarians

Dr. William Snyder will be welcomed by his friends at the Pacific Unitarian Church Sunday, now meeting at Miraleste School, Palos Verdes School District. Dr. Snyder has chosen for his topic "To What Can A Humanist Be Thankful?" Service starts at 11 a.m. and church school for children of all ages meets concurrently.

Dr. Snyder has received degrees from Temple University in Philadelphia and from Princeton. He formerly taught at USC, and is now a professor of philosophy at San Diego State College.

Pacific Unitarian Church minister, Richard Seebode and Mrs. Seebode are spending Thanksgiving holidays in Murphys, Calif., with their son, Frank, and his wife, Amy. Frank Seebode is high school teacher and basketball coach at nearby Angel's Camp.

Angel Algosio At Polynesian As Maitre d'

Appointment of Angel Algosio, formerly of the Royal Hawaiian in Honolulu, as the new maitre d' at the Polynesian Restaurant in Torrance is announced by Pete Reitz, general manager of the tropical dining establishment.

In addition to Algosio, who has a vast following of friends in the islands and on the mainland, Peppi Nobeljas returns to the Polynesian Restaurant as dining room captain.

Another authentic touch of the South Pacific is the new collection of waiters' uniforms from Tahiti, where they were designed and made especially for the Polynesian staff.

Pledges Fraternity

Patrick Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hood of Torrance, has been pledged to Sigma Pi, national social fraternity, on the campus of Arizona State College, Flagstaff.
